The Arboricultural Association's 1st National Utility Arboriculture Conference, 6-7 July 2009, Bosworth Hall Hotel

Latest News

Martin Lennon of UPM Tilhill will chair the programme. Martin has chaired many AA Utility meetings over the years and brings a wealth of experience to this role

Tim Marsh, the most the well known Safety Physiologist outside of the U.S., author of the bestselling book Effective Safety Management and knowledgeable Health and Safety expert will present at the Conference:

- Workshop sessions: 'The Vital Importance of Day to Day Behaviour in determining an Outstanding Safety Culture', Tuesday 7 July at 13:45 and repeated 16:15. How can you get the safety message across to your workforce? Guaranteed top tips to extract glad rather grudging promises. Can you afford to miss this vital workshop? This is being advertised to non-delegates and delegates and as limited places are available book your place by contacting Associated Utility Supplies (email jodie@aus.co.uk or call 01484 860575, first come first served). [Suggestion: people concentrating on the outside events book 13:45, people concentrating on the lectures book 16:15 so as not to miss Dr Neil Strong at 13:45]
- After dinner speaker: short, sweet and entertaining is guaranteed, it will include the presentation of the awards to the winners of the (tenth) AUS Skills Competition and the Tilhill safety Challenge. Every effort has been made to make the evening an informal event – no ties required – where everyone will feel comfortable, have a great roast dinner and be entertained. If you haven't booked dinner it may not be too late – contact us to enquire.
