

OLD SPACES TO NEW PLACES

The Benefits of Placemaking in Bristol's Urban Regeneration

As part of the European Green Capital legacy, Bristol City Council's Placemaking Team will present a range of perspectives of city-wide strategies in enhancing green infrastructure through to detailed design and asset delivery. This is contrasted against a retrospective of the nearby Sylvia Crowe Cumberland Basin scheme in the 1960s and finally Kenton Rogers will look at quantifying the value of green infrastructure.

Purpose:

To encourage and inform good practice, to celebrate past successful schemes and how to inform future strategies. We also hope that attendees will use this as an opportunity to network and share good practice.

Audience:

It is hoped that attendees will be attracted to the event from the public, private and voluntary sectors from a range of disciplines including planning, transport, urban design, arboriculture, ecology as well as landscape architecture.
